Assist THE GOVERNMENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF UZBEKISTAN in the FOLLOWING:

1. Program elements shall include:

G20 Leaders' Summit Remarks Overview

The President of the Republic of Uzbekistan will participate in the 2026 G20 Leaders' Summit, hosted by the United States at Trump National Doral Miami on December 14–15, 2026. The specific topics on which the President will speak have not yet been confirmed, and his remarks are expected to be delivered in an informal setting. Contractor will therefore prepare three (3) short sets of remarks, one for each principal topic on the summit agenda, so that the President is ready to speak to whichever topic arises.

The U.S. G20 presidency has organized its 2026 agenda around three priorities: removing regulatory burdens to unlock economic growth; unlocking affordable and secure energy supply chains; and pioneering new technologies and innovation. Unless Client directs otherwise, the three sets of remarks will correspond to these three topics, aligned with the G20 briefing materials provided by Client. Client may substitute any topic by written notice before the outline for that topic is delivered, at no additional cost.

Duration: November 11, 2026 through the G20 Leaders' Summit on December 14–15, 2026, with post-summit reception monitoring and reporting through December 31, 2026.

Goal: Three short, distinct sets of remarks in the President's voice that achieve (1) a positive diplomatic reception from fellow leaders and delegations; (2) positive reception among business leaders and the business press; and (3) a clear demonstration of the President's leadership in front of a global audience.

Metrics: Reception in the room; international and business press coverage; and home-country coverage. Contractor will report these results against the goals above after the summit.

Deliverables

- Remarks 1 – Regulatory reform and economic growth: approximately three (3) minutes as delivered (roughly 350–450 words).
- Remarks 2 – Affordable and secure energy and supply chains: approximately three (3) minutes as delivered (roughly 350–450 words).
- Remarks 3 – New technologies and innovation: approximately three (3) minutes as delivered (roughly 350–450 words).
- Message framework: a one-page document setting out the two or three core themes and key lines shared across all three sets of remarks, so the President's message is consistent whichever topic he addresses.
- Format: each set of remarks is written to stand alone, in a conversational register suited to an informal setting, and is delivered in English in a format ready for translation. Translation and interpretation will be provided by Client.
- Post-summit report: a summary of reception and coverage measured against the goals above, delivered by December 31, 2026.

Phase 1: Listen, Research and Assess (November 11–20)

- Listen: two conversations with the President and/or his designated team, the first on goals, message and priorities, and the second to pressure-test the themes and outlines.
- Research: every major public remark the President has made in the last five years (positions, signature phrases and cadence), then the forum: host priorities, agenda, fellow speakers and the issues in play.
- Assess: the format, time allotted and length guidelines for each session, and the right tone for an audience that is at once heads of state, business leaders and the international press.

Phase 2: Draft and Refine (November 18 – December 1)

Each of the three sets of remarks moves through five rounds, each reviewed collaboratively with Client's team:

- Step 1: outline, bullets and key themes
- Step 2: initial draft
- Step 3: edited draft
- Step 4: semi-final draft
- Step 5: final draft, delivered no later than December 1, 2026

Phase 3: Watch and Measure (December 10–31)

Received by NSD/FARA Registration Unit 11/23/2026 4:13:11 PM

Received by NSD/FARA Registration Unit 11/23/2026 4:13:11 PM

- Watch: Contractor monitors news and developments up to delivery and revises the text if events change the context, remaining available for revisions through the close of the summit.
- Measure: after delivery, Contractor tracks reception in the room, international and business press coverage, and home-country coverage, and compares the reporting against the goals above.

Client Responsibilities

The schedule above depends on Client (1) designating a point of contact for the engagement; (2) scheduling the two conversations with the President and/or his designated team during Phase 1; (3) sharing the G20 briefing book and any confirmed session formats, topics and time limits as they become available; and (4) returning comments on each draft within two (2) business days. Contractor will adjust the schedule as needed if these inputs are delayed.

Payment

The Project will have a fixed project fee of $20,000 covering all three (3) sets of remarks and all activities outlined above.

In addition, certain associated expenses, including third party honoraria, video or digital media production, travel or other local transportation, meals, and other customary incidentals, may also be incurred and, upon securing Client's prior written approval, billed back to Client at cost.
