Clare,

On behalf of our client, the Embassy of Saudi Arabia, we wanted to share a New York Times op-ed by the Saudi Ambassador to the United States, HRH Princess Reema Bandar Al-Saud (link). The piece discusses the wave of aggression launched by the Houthis, the Iran-backed Yemeni militia, against both the legitimate Government of Yemen and the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. The op-ed highlights the recent egregious Houthi terrorist attack on a passenger terminal at King Khalid International Airport that killed 13 people and wounded scores of others. It argues that the Houthis, who attack civilians and civilian targets as a matter of strategy and now seek to control the Bab al-Mandab Strait, pose a terrorist threat akin to ISIS before its seizure of Mosul. And that the international community must mobilize to stop this threat from spreading.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if you have trouble accessing the link.

Thanks,
Ches
