OF EXCHANGE PROGRAM

Americans To Teach English In Japan

An exchange program called JET is turning out to be a quick success. Initiated last year, the Japan Exchange and Teaching Program—JET, for short—is promoting mutual understanding between Japan and other countries, including the United States.

Just recently, about 600 participants from the United States flew to Japan to teach English in schools. In addition, a small number will act as international activities coordinators for local Japanese governments.

About 1,050 JET participants from six nations have been newly selected for the 1988-89 program. The third year of the program will start in August 1989.

These Japanese symbols represent a successful exchange and teaching program now in its second year.

For information on how to participate in the 1989-90 program, you can write: JET Program Office, Embassy of Japan, (2520 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008) or regional Consulate-General of Japan.
