Korea Institute for International Economic Policy (KIEP)	KIEP is a research institute funded by the Republic of Korea government to conduct studies and analyses of global economic issues. Its aim is to help South Korea pursue a more effective international economic policy. KIEP assesses the implications of recent developments in the global economy for the government and carries out research in partnership with other institutions and organizations. The registrant (KEI)'s objective is to promote discussion on the economic relations and other bilateral issues between the Republic of Korea and the United States. Through its publications, programs, and public events, KEI seeks to advance scholarship and understanding of the Republic of Korea in ways that will inform policymakers and American public of the security, economic, and political implications of our connections to the Korea Peninsula.
