Hi [Name],

I wanted to flag you on an important upcoming Caribbean event on global climate talks. The needs of small island developing states (SIDS) are in clearer focus than ever, following the development of the Bridgetown Initiative. This coming week, Barbados will host a speech from Dr. Sultan Al Jaber, the president designate of COP28, the global climate conference for signatories of the Paris Agreement.

Ahead of the speech, we’d like to offer you an interview with Amb. Majid Al Suwaidi on Monday or Tuesday morning. Amb. Majid, the director-general of COP28, will be able to give you a preview of the speech and can comment on the importance of SIDS in climate talks, ahead of Dr. Al Jaber’s presentation on the 10th.

Thanks,
