Congressman Newt Gingrich

Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Gingrich:

With the current political situation changing in the U.S., and the dire need for a renewed Mid East policy, the time is ripe for a more realistic review of U.S. policy towards Iran.

As media advisor to the Permanent Mission of Iran to the U.N., I would like the opportunity to meet with you, or an appropriate member of your staff, to discuss and possibly clarify Iran's current position on issues such as militirization, human rights and resumed U.S. relations.

The United States would benefit from closer relations with Iran, as most industrialized nations are now taking advantage of the opening of that market. I would like to urge you to use your influence to make such relations possible.

Sincerely,

Bijan Sepasy
