Floex is a Czech multimedia artist and composer known for his evocative soundtracks for beloved indie games like Machinarium, Samorost, and Papetura. His work fuses electronic music with classical influences, forming a signature style that's both intricate and deeply atmospheric. Floex further explores the intersection of music and technology, bringing innovative ideas like his robotic drummer, Josef, into his live performances and DJ sets.

Floex's ensemble combines electronic precision with the warmth of live musicians. For this performance, local musicians join members of the Floex Ensemble, creating a unique collaboration infused with fresh, local energy. The result is a dynamic blend of neo-classical and electronic sounds, merging dance, live expression, and technical precision. Together, they create an immersive experience that draws the audience into a captivating journey of sound and movement.
