The guidelines for responses to supplemental statements defines "political" activity to include activity that involves "investment and trade promotion" on behalf of a foreign government. Therefore, we report that on behalf of the Russian Federal Property Fund, Stewart and Stewart (through Terence P. Stewart) engaged in e-mail correspondence with various U.S. businessmen generally inquiring of any interest they might have in investing in or purchasing property in Russia held by the Russian Federal Property Fund, and advised various non-governmental entities in the U.S. (such as the U.S.-Russian Business Council) that Stewart and Stewart was the representative of the RFPF.

We did not seek to influence U.S. government policies or opinions toward Russia. We held small meetings of select private businessmen and women with an interest in Russia, for the purpose of presenting them with investment opportunities in Russia. The dates, places, speakers, and subject matter for all meetings held during the reporting period are reported in question 11.

Brochures describing the activities of the RFPF were distributed by the RFPF to attendees of the meetings. These brochures were not distributed by the agent and were prepared and paid for by the RFPF. We have attached a copy of the brochure.

RUSSIAN FEDERAL PROPERTY FUND

introductory word of Yu. A. Petrov

Yu. A. Petrov

Acting Chairman of the Russian Federal Property Fund

The Russian Federal Property Fund, a specialized state establishment with the Government of the Russian Federation, was founded on February 3, 1992 by a decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the Russian Soviet Federative Socialist Republic.

For over 10 years the Fund has been successfully managing the federal property privatization tasks assigned by the state to deliver substantial money assets to the federal budget. The record of Fund's activities includes sales of state-owned share holdings in Russia's major companies, such as LUKOIL, Svyazinvest, Slavneft, the Magnitogorsk Integrated Iron-and-Steel Works and many more.

New tasks added recently to the Fund's original federal property privatization mission include sales of distrained, confiscated or other exempt or ownerless property, as well as sales of detached military property.

The Fund's central office and the extensive regional network that includes 6 inter-regional and 30 regional departments is staffed by highly qualified experts possessing vast experience in pre-sale processing of assets, and holding auctions. In addition, the Fund runs representative offices and employs representatives elsewhere in the world, which enables us to attract foreign capital to the ongoing privatization programs.

I am sure the team of the Russian Federal Property Fund will continue in the future to successfully implement its tasks of state significance and further contribute by its activities to the progressive development of this country's national economy.
