TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS

The Equatoguinean Government has committed itself to fighting the problem of trafficking in persons (TIP) after being placed on the Tier III list by the U.S. Department of State in a report on human trafficking last year. A comprehensive law has been enacted in EG against human traffickers and, with the assistance of UNICEF, the government has for the first time held public information seminars on Bioko Island and the mainland with local civil and community leaders. These seminars are to continue. The EG Government's efforts are being supervised by the Deputy Prime Minister's office.

IMF VISIT

The IMF completed its Article IV and ROSC ((Reports on the Observance of Standards & Codes) consultations in Equatorial Guinea this January. An IMF regional workshop was held in Malabo on 'Transparency and Accountability in Resource Management in the Regional CEMAC Countries', attended by Deputy Managing Director, Agustin Carstens, at the end of January. Carstens also met with President Obiang and Prime Minister Miguel Abia Biteo Borico. "In my meeting with the authorities, I noted that Equatorial Guinea was one of Africa's fastest growing economies, benefiting from oil production," he said. "In my discussion with the President, I was greatly encouraged by the importance he placed on transparency in oil resource management and public expenditure. We agreed on the need to build on the authorities' recent efforts to increase the transparency of oil related transactions and improve public accounting procedures, including by reconciling and routinely publishing oil revenue data, the government's foreign asset holdings, and the audited accounts of the state oil company."

EXTRACTIVE INDUSTRIES TRANSPARENCY INITIATIVE (EITI)

The EG Government has agreed to attend the Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative (EITI) meeting in London in March, under the sponsorship of Prime Minister Tony Blair. The objective of the EITI is to increase transparency over payments and revenues in the extractives sector in countries heavily dependent on these resources. The EITI also aims to ensure that the revenues from extractive industries contribute to sustainable development and poverty reduction.

SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

The U.S. Department of State and Business for Social Responsibility (BSR), a nonprofit organization based in San Francisco, met with non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and other interested parties in Washington, D.C. to discuss the recently completed needs assessment of the Social Development Fund for Equatorial Guinea. The ultimate goal of this fund is to create a broad-based dialogue, including the Government of EG, to promote collaborative action to apply revenues accruing from oil exploration and production to critical social needs. Jim Rader, director of BSR, said he was encouraged by the increasing "cooperation and willingness" of the EG Government during the assessment process of the project.

CEMAC

President Obiang has taken over the chairmanship of CEMAC, the Central African Economic & Monetary Community, at a regional summit in Libreville, Gabon on February 10. CEMAC member countries include Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chad, Congo, Equatorial Guinea and Gabon. The Heads of State met to assess five years of the sub-regional body and map out its future objectives.

HIGH GROWTH FOR EG IN 2004

Equatorial Guinea's monetary committee in the Ministry of Finance said that the country achieved a growth rate of 26.6% in 2004, up from 13.6% in 2003. This large growth rate was mainly driven by the increase in oil production alongside the surge in oil prices in 2004. In addition, the construction and public infrastructure sector showed a strong performance, according to World Markets Analysis.

POLICE CHIEF DISMISSED

According to another World Markets Analysis report, three senior figures from the Equatoguinean security establishment were dismissed at the end of January 2005 for 'abuse of authority and maltreatment of the civilian population', according to Spanish press agency EFE. In a decree signed by Defence Minister Antonio Mba Nguema, the Chief of the National Police Corps, Col. Gabriel Ndong Ntutumu (alias 'Eto'), has been sacked having acquired a track record for cruelty, according to one police source. The same decree ordered the dismissal of the Chief of Civic Security, Elias Ela Ebang, and the Director-General for Logistics at the Defence Ministry, Brig-Gen. Antonio Obama Ndong (alias 'Antonito'), on the same charges as those facing Eto.

Equatorial Guinea News Update

An occasional digest

March 23, 2005

Equatorial Guinea (EG) signs up to principles of Extractive Industries' Transparency Initiative (EITI) in London, March 17, 2005

At a conference held in London organized by the British Government's Department for International Development (DFID) on March 17, the Equatoguinean government endorsed an EITI communiqué calling for the public use of revenues from the oil and gas industries to be a source of economic growth and social development, and for resource rich countries to increase transparency and accountability.

In a written statement given by the EG government to the EITI conference, it announced it was evaluating a package of reforms in priority areas with the assistance of the World Bank.

"The Government is also considering the possibility of participating as a pilot in the G-8 anti-corruption and transparency compact. EITI is the first step toward the development of a track record of reform implementation that is a key requirement to participate in the G-8 compact," the statement said.

The EG government emphasized two aspects of EITI that were particularly relevant: multi-stakeholder engagement and impact on risk mitigation which will oversee improving transparency under an internationally recognized framework.

With World Bank assistance, the Government of EG has set up an EITI Commission, as well as a Stakeholders' Group, the latter of which also includes oil company representatives. "The Government has been soliciting industry and civil society participation in the Stakeholders' Group. The government is committed to strengthening civil society participation through various initiatives, ranging from defining the profile of civil society in EG to streamlining NGO's accreditation procedures, all of which are detailed in a proposed Action Plan."

The Action Plan (including a timetable and associated costs), based on the G-8 format, has been prepared by the EITI Commission and once completed will involve appointing an independent auditor, defining a reporting template and guidelines, as well as a reporting timetable. On the basis of the Action Plan, EG will publish the first EITI compliant report in Q4/05.

Head of the World Bank, James Wolfensohn, who opened the EITI conference, commended EG on its efforts towards transparency acknowledging, along with other developing countries, that "they were at the beginning stages but showing encouraging signs."
