Subject: Invitation to Write an Op-ed for China-US Focus

Dear XXXX,

I hope this note finds you well. I am writing on behalf of China-US Focus, one of the most popular online platforms for opinions regarding U.S.-China relations and Asian affairs, featuring a comprehensive range of commentary from Chinese and American experts.

Your expertise on U.S.-China relations is especially valuable to our readers and we would love for our readers to have your perspective on a topic that you feel is especially relevant or important at this time.

Our readers are influential policy makers in China and the U.S., and they would certainly benefit from your perspective. We also translate pieces into Chinese for our growing audience in Hong Kong, Taiwan, and mainland China and promote our articles on our Facebook and Twitter pages. You may pitch any ideas you have or work from the suggestions I have briefly mentioned above. The op-ed piece is usually in the range of 900-1200 words. If you were to choose to submit a piece, we would aim for a submission in the next 3 weeks, but certainly can be flexible with deadlines.

Please note that the Editorial Board makes the final decision on the timing and publication of each article. Typically, it can take up to a week or more before contributions appear on the website, and a submission does not guarantee publication.

For your reference, China-US Focus is published by the China-United States Exchange Foundation, a non-government and non-profit organization based in Hong Kong. Established in 2008, the China-United States Exchange Foundation seeks to foster a strengthened and improved relationship between China and the United States.

Please let me know if this opportunity interests you, or if you would like to speak further.

Best regards,

These materials are disseminated by BLJ Worldwide on behalf of the China- United States Exchange Foundation. Additional information is on file with the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.
