All Haitian politicians and observers who genuinely care about the long term wellbeing of our people and nation should support the electoral process and preparations underway for Haitians to exercise their democratic right to vote.

Today Acting Assistant Secretary Chung discussed U.S. electoral engagement in Haiti. Read her full remarks -> go.usa.gov/xHTVU

A shared effort is urgently required. Political and civil society leaders must bridge their divisions to accomplish the higher goal of restoring democracy and stability.

On behalf of the Gov of Haiti, I welcome the decision of the @POTUS administration to extend Temporary Protected Status #TPS to Haitians. This is the right decision to end uncertainty and allow Haitians in the US to work and continue supporting their loved ones in #Haiti 🇸🇪

It's also a testament to the hard work of some grassroots organizations that have campaigned for this outcome. On behalf of all Haitians #TPS recipients, thank you.

Haiti values the engagement of @OAS_official as we continue preparations to deliver free, fair and safe elections. Democracy in Haiti is at a critical juncture, and with support from partners like the #OAS, we can ensure a better future for our country and our democratic system.

OAS @OAS_official · 26 May

Permanent Council of the #OAS will send a Mission to Haiti to "facilitate a dialogue that would lead to free and fair elections."

Delegation will be made up of representatives of @CanadaOAS, @CostaRicaOEA, @Ecuador_OEA, Saint Vincent y Grenadines and @USAmbOAS

2/3 Climate change is a global issue, with countries like #Haiti forced to bear the brunt of the impact of increased carbon emissions. We cannot tackle this challenge alone, so it is vital that the fight to reduce climate change involves us all.

Bocchit Edmond @BocchitEdmond · 6 Jul
2/3 Dr. Henry has the experience needed to establish a new government of consensus as we work for solutions to #Covid19 and security challenges, while preparing for elections and a referendum later this year

The assassination of @moisejovenel is devastating for our nation. Haiti has lost a true statesman, committed to our country's democracy and a true believer in Haiti's potential. My thoughts and prayers are with my fellow citizens and the President's family. R.I.P Mr President.
