For those who care about the #Congo, or whose job it is to work on peace and development in the #DRC, we are at a critical juncture. What happens in the next 1-2 weeks will have a huge impact on developments over the coming decade. (1/4)

This could unfold in many ways. I find it v hard to believe that Kabila/Shadary will accept defeat and step down. I also don't think they will be able to rig elections and move on, as we now know that the Catholic Church, opposition and civil society, will put up a fight. (2/4)

The most likely scenario is a protracted, potentially violent standoff that plays out over months in halls of power and in the streets. It could spill over into armed mobilization in eastern DRC. Many civilians are likely to be killed in this scenario (3/4).

We often look back and wonder: "When could we have prevented escalation? What were the critical junctures we missed?" One of those moments is now.

Important message from former Amb. Tom Perriello. #RDC #DRC #lamuka

Tom Perriello @tomperriello

Learn the name @MartinFayulu, a Congolese anti-corruption reformer who appears to have defied all odds to be elected President despite rigged rules. It is impossible to overstate how HUGE it would be for the DRC, bursting with potential, to have a true reformer at its helm.

There is a clear winner in the #RDCElection. It is @MartinFayulu.

Opposition Leader Is Seen by Church as Winning Congo Vote

The Catholic Church, widely trusted, has determined that Martin Fayulu is the victor, setting up a potential confrontation with the government.

President @realDonaldTrump's letter to Congress about U.S. military deployment to the region.

We continue to pray for a peaceful transition of power. This is something well within Joseph Kabila's power.

Élections en #RDC ont été une comédie, sans toutefois empêcher la victoire de l'opposition. Les observateurs sont unanimes, y compris l'Eglise catholique qui a déployé 40000 agents. Comme les USA, UE, ONU, France etc doivent pousser pour que les vrais résultats soient annoncés.

ALERT: We are getting troubling information from inside the DRC:

- At noon Kinshasa time, Kabila closed the ferry separating Kinshasa from Brazzaville.

- Also Kabila has informed police and security forces that CENI is going to announce Shadary as electoral winner.

Although the people of the DRC, Kabila, and the world know Shadary did not get the most votes.

- Also that Kabila is deploying troops across the country and banning protests of any sort.

We fear that Kabila has chosen the route of violence & oppression

We would ask that the international community continue to engage, and if necessary, pressure Kabila, his family, and his associates to ensure the people's voice is heard and that @MartinFayulu is able serve as president.
