"At the end of 2019... the imperiled Christian minority was just starting to get back on its feet in Nineveh [though, notably, only in areas patrolled by the NPU]. But an expanded conflict in Iraq between Iran and the United States could provoke reprisals from their Sunni and Shiite neighbors that will ultimately put an end to Christianity in Iraq. Let us hope someone in Washington is working on a contingency plan to prevent that..."

Rather than hope for a Washington security contingency plan for Assyrian Christians in Iraq, a policy that has not materialized despite our ongoing advocacy with decision-makers in Washington, the only concrete security plan already on the ground in Iraq protecting our people in the Nineveh Plain 24 hours a day is the NPU. Our people need the NPU, and these brave men deserve your support.
