"We're really pleased that the President of the United Nations General Assembly [Kōrisi Csaba] chose to focus on transformative solutions to interlocking challenges for this year's general debate," said South Africa Department of International Relations and Cooperation Minister Naledi Pandor at #BRICS meeting on margins of #UNGA77.

BRICS gathered at the Consulate General of South Africa in New York where #BRICS Ministers of Foreign Affairs first met in 2006.

Minister Pandor said, "...[T]he founding vision of BRICS has remained consistent since then. We strive for a fair, just, inclusive, equitable, and representative multipolar international system based on the important pillars of multilateralism, and international law. This was the founding vision of BRICS which aligned to our own philosophy in South Africa, of working together as a global community to find solutions to challenges which affect us all collectively."
