Terms of Engagement of White & Case LLP

Dear Mr. Marcano:

This letter confirms the terms under which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, through the Council of Administration and Asset Protection ("CAPA" or "Venezuela") is engaging the law firm of White & Case LLP to assist it in interacting with certain U.S. government officials in connection with US litigation pending against it in the United States.

We will charge Venezuela for our services on the basis of our hours devoted to the matter and hourly rates. We will also charge Venezuela for office costs and out-of-pocket expenses customarily billed by us. These include charges for photocopying, travel, mail and courier services, facsimile, word processing and printing, filing fees, and computer legal research.

We intend to send billing statements on a monthly basis. We ask for payment within 30 days thereafter.

Consistent with U.S. practice and rules, Venezuela has the right to discharge us for any reason at any time. If Venezuela discharges us, it will be obligated to pay any unpaid charges within 30 days of our final billing statement(s).

Also consistent with U.S. practice and rules, we have the right to withdraw from the representation at any time if withdrawal can be accomplished without material adverse effect on the interests of Venezuela or if there are other grounds for withdrawal under applicable rules of professional conduct. If we withdraw after any litigation has commenced, Venezuela agrees to execute any notice of withdrawal that may be required to be filed in court.

A search of our existing matters shows that we do not have any conflicts with representing Venezuela in connection with this matter. Given the size and breadth of White & Case (approximately 2,400 lawyers in more than 30 countries), Venezuela agrees that this engagement will not preclude White & Case from representing other clients in unrelated matters, even if those other clients' interests are different from, or adverse to, Venezuela's interests. For example,

Council of Administration and Asset Protection without limitation, White & Case may represent clients negotiating transactions with representatives of Venezuela or asserting commercial claims against Venezuela, as long as those matters are unrelated to this matter. In any such unrelated matters, White & Case would not use the lawyers handling this matter for Venezuela.

In the absence of termination or withdrawal, this engagement will continue until the services hereunder are completed. For the sake of clarity, this engagement will be deemed as concluded if it becomes inactive for a period of three months.

Please let me know if you have any questions about any of the foregoing. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Claire DeLelle
Partner
