 Old Korean Legation in Washington D.C. 주미대한제국공사관 7월 12일 · 2

Yesterday, a group of Taiwanese students selected by the Ministry of Education of Taiwan visited the Old Korean Legation in Washington, D.C. During their tour, the students explored the Legation building and learned about Korea's modern history. They were deeply impressed by the beauty and historical significance of the site.

Above all, they found it fascinating to learn that the Korean Wave (Hallyu), which has now gained global popularity, had its early beginnings at the Old Korean Legation 136 years ago. It was an enriching and engaging experience for the students.

We wish the rest of their tour in the United States a successful and memorable journey.

어제 타이완 교육부의 선발로 타이완 청소년들이 주미대한제국공사관을 방문했습니다. 학생들은 주미대한제국공사관을 둘러보며 한국의 근현대사를 함께 공부했고, 유서 깊은 건물의 아름다움에 흠뻑 빠졌습니다. 무엇보다 현재 전 세계에 진출해 많은 사랑을 받고 있는 한류가 136년 전 주미대한제국공사관으로부터 처음 시작되었다는 사실을 재미있게 배우는 유익한 시간이었습니다. 타이완 청소년들의 미국 투어가 성공리에 잘 마칠 수 있기를 바랍니다.

Throughout the Korean Legation Museum, you can find Taegukgi (Korean national flags) tucked away in many corners. How many did you spot during your visit?

Please visit the former Korean Empire Legation to the United States in person and take photos of seven (7) or more Taegukgi you find throughout the building.

Post the photos on your social media and share the link with us, along with a mailing address where you can receive mail.

Through a random drawing, 20 participants will receive a lovely Legation souvenir (a keychain).

The image shows an Instagram post from the account 'koreaculturedc 및 koreanlegation'. The main content is a photograph of an exhibition poster. The poster has the following text:

Photo Exhibition Commemorating the First Anniversary of the Old Korean Legation's Listing on the U.S. National Register of Historic Places

A Shared Korean-American Legacy: 800 Days of Restoration

A Place That Connects History, A Record That Captures Time

On September 9, 2024, the United States federal government officially listed the Old Korean Legation in Washington, D.C., on the National Register of Historic Places. This designation reflects a shared recognition by the Republic of Korea and the United States of the building's profound historical significance and the importance of its preservation. As a result, this structure—an enduring witness to more than 136 years of diplomatic history—now stands as a "shared heritage," legally and institutionally protected by both nations.

This photo exhibition has been specially organized to commemorate the first anniversary of the building's inclusion on the National Register. It highlights the acclaimed restoration and remodeling efforts that were central to the listing process and won high praise from American experts. On display are vivid photographs documenting every stage of the three-year restoration project. These invaluable records were made possible by the dedication and passion of photographer Hyangsuk Oh, who visited the construction site every day without fail to capture its progress.

The exhibition presents a carefully curated selection from the remarkable archive of over 120,000 photographs taken by the artist. Through these images, we invite you to experience the moving story and vibrant energy of this unprecedented restoration—one that brought together experts from both nations for the first time.

We hope this exhibition provides a meaningful opportunity to reflect on the building's historical significance and the legacy it embodies. More than a relic of the past, the Old Korean Legation is now a "shared memory and heritage" that Korea and the United States have pledged to preserve for future generations. This exhibition serves as a living record of how that invaluable legacy came to be.

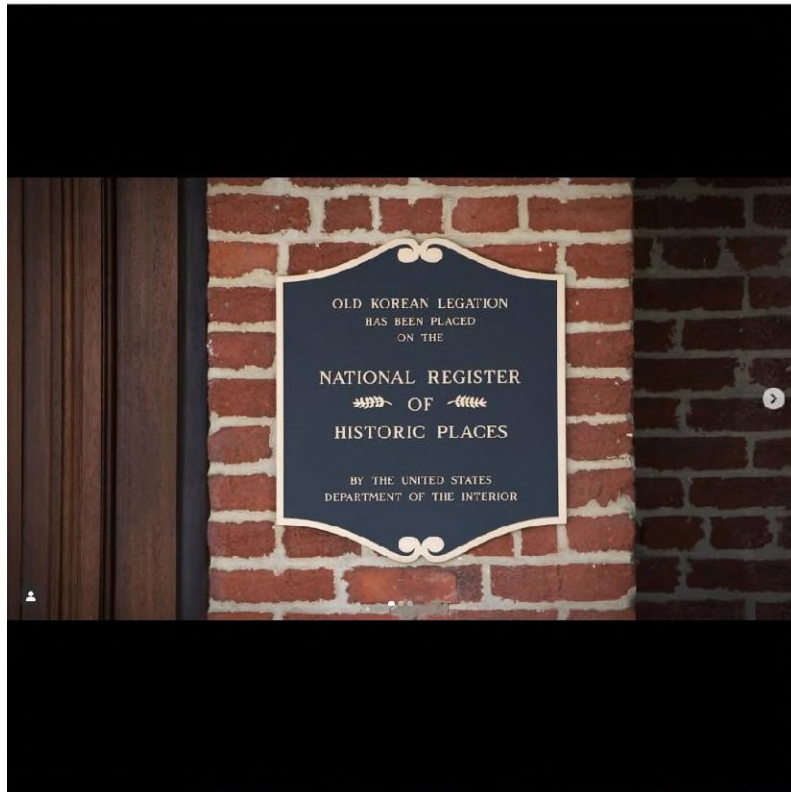

At the bottom of the poster, there are logos for the Korean Cultural Center Washington, D.C., the National Register of Historic Places, and the LG Group.

koreaculturedc 🎉 On Sept 5, we celebrate the 1st Anniversary of the Old Korean Legation's listing on the U.S. National Register of Historic Places! 🇺🇸

Built in 1877, the Legation was Korea's first mission to the U.S., a place where envoys, students and activists worked for recognition and independence. Though it closed in 1905 under Japanese pressure, it remained a powerful symbol for the Korean diaspora.

Repurchased in 2012 and carefully restored by 2018, the building now stands proudly as the Old Korean Legation in Washington, D.C.

Today, first-year students from Dongtan Global High School visited the Old Korean Legation in Washington, D.C. The students arrived in the capital after traveling through Boston, New York, and Philadelphia. In recent years, many Korean high school students have included the Old Korean Legation as a meaningful stop on their study tours to the United States. We hope this visit will inspire them to dream boldly and pursue their future aspirations. Wishing all the students a safe and pleasant conclusion to their journey!

"시원하고 새콤하여 알로 다 할 수 없는 맛" 조선 후기 학자 성태종(1732-1809)이 풍속·원화·야사를 기록한 『청성잡기(靑城雜記)』에 등장하는 동치미 국물 맛에 대한 표현입니다. 한국인과 김치는 예나 지금이나 벨레야 뗄 수 없는 관계입니다. 미국 의회도서관에는 원문 원문과 현대 한국어 번역이 함께 실린 영인본이 소장되어 있습니다. (<https://lccn.loc.gov/2007329702/?locId=fbint>). 김치의 날(11.22.)을 맞아 한번 찾아서 읽어보면 어떨까요?

The phrase "refreshing and pleasantly tart—a flavor beyond words" appears in "Ch'öngsöng chapgi" (靑城雜記), a collection of customs, anecdotes, and unofficial histories written by the late Chosön scholar Söng Tae-jung (1732-1809), describing the taste of tongch'imi (radish-water kimchi) brine. Koreans and kimchi have always been inseparable—from the past to the present. The Library of Congress holds a reprint edition of this work featuring both the original classical Chinese text and a modern Korean translation (<https://lccn.loc.gov/2007329702/?locId=fbint>). Why not take a moment to explore it in honor of Kimchi Day (November 22)?
