	10:00:00 AM	Posted	SOCIAL	FEED	This week we'll be highlighting #Italian excellence in film. #OTD in 1906, Italian director Luchino Visconti was born in Milan #Italy!  Many know Visconti as the "father of Neorealism" due to his immense influence on post-World War II filmmaking. His film "La terra trema" (The Earth Trembles) was so influential that it won the grand prize at the Venice International Film Festival in 1948.	Luchino Visconti
Tuesday, November 2	12:00:00 PM	Posted	SOCIAL	FEED	Each year, Italy hosts thousands of actors, directors, producers and artists at prestigious film festivals that garner international attention!  Last week, the sixteenth edition of the @romacinemafest took place at the @auditoriumparcodellamusica. Rome is known as the epicenter of Italian cinema and film and is also a part of the @UNESCO creative cities network! Stars gathered in the city to celebrate new and innovative films from all over the world, show off the latest fashion, and receive special internationally recognized awards.  This year, Italian-American director Quentin Tarantino won the Lifetime Achievement Award for his work on beloved films including Pulp Fiction, Kill Bill, Reservoir Dogs and Django Unchained. 	10:00:00 AM	--	GLOBAL	FEED	One of Italy's natural beauties comes in the form of 18 mountain peaks located in the northern Italian Alps. Rising to 3,000 meters, the Dolomites are hard to miss due to both their height and incredible views. In 2009, the group of mountains joined the @UNESCOWorldHeritage List based on their intricate cracks, diverse spectrum of colors, and the scientific interest around the site. Visitors who decide to travel to the Dolomites will always find something to do year-round. Outdoorsy travelers might consider taking a long hike up the mountainside, skiing, cycling or even rafting. Tuesday, November 2	10:00:00 AM	Posted	SOCIAL	FEED	On this day in 1906, Italian film director Luchino Visconti was born in Milan, Italy ! Many know Visconti as the "father of Neorealism" due to his immense influence on post-World War II filmmaking which would eventually become known as neorealism. Italian neorealism is regarded as the Golden Age in the world of cinema and is known for the use of footage of real people going about their lives. The new style of movie had an emotional impact on viewers by reflecting an image of society that was less filtered. Visconti's innovative documentary "La terra trema" (The Earth Trembles) followed fishermen throughout Sicily and included no paid actors. This gave viewers a glimpse into the life of those citizens instead of a retelling of their stories and struggles.	Luchino Visconti		https://www.britannica.com/biography/Luchino-Visconti-Italian-director https://www.movementsinfilm.com/italian-neorealism
