	2:00:00 PM	Posted	GLOBAL	FEED	Found in the southern region of Puglia, Trulli are entirely made of limestone and built with a prehistoric technique still in use to this day. Some of these structures date back from as early as the mid-14th century. The best preserved examples of them are found in the town of Alberobello.  Each Trullo is built of carefully-positioned stones, forming a conical or domed roof with a pinnacle placed at the top, and many display religious and spiritual symbols. Though their appearance seems simple, the roofing design creates a gutter system to prevent leaking, and double-skinned walls create natural insulation. The Trulli served as temporary field shelters, storehouses, and even permanent dwellers for farmers.  Alberobello continues to be a lively community adapting to the needs of modern life. Many people renovated the interior of the Trulli while retaining the original exterior shape and reside in them today. There are approximately 1600 trulli left today in the city!  The Trulli of Alberobello was inscribed as a @UNESCOworldheritage site in 1996 for its remarkable architectural glimpse into history. This year, it will celebrates its 25th year of inscription with an international contemporary art exhibition.  #UNESCOWorldHeritage #Italy #UNESCO #Italia #Trulli #Alberobello #Explore #Beautiful #Travel #History #ILikeItaly #Ancient #Architecture #Puglia #SouthernItaly #Tourism	Feed 1-4	S-3 noting this was approved
