Pope visit to Gulf can help us defeat murderous extremists, top Emirati diplomat says

The National

Feb 3, 2019

Welcoming Pope Francis to the Middle East will help deliver a rebuke to “murderous fundamentalists” who promote a warped and violent interpretation of Islam, a senior Emirati diplomat has said.

Writing for Politico magazine, Yousef Al Otaiba, the UAE ambassador to the US, said that promoting a vision of tolerance and peaceful coexistence with people of other faiths could prove more effective than force in defeating the ideology of ISIS and its “crazed followers”.

In an article headlined ‘Why we invited the Pope to the Arabian Peninsula’, Mr Al Otaiba wrote that populations across the Middle East are facing the “the menace of extremism” with the region becoming a “cauldron of conflict”.

“Radical interpretations of Islam represent a tiny minority of those who practise the faith,” said Mr Al Otaiba, who has been ambassador to the US for 10 years. “But often the shrillest voices shout the loudest — whether it is on TV, on the internet or in a mosque. They twist and obscure the fact that Islam is a religion of peace.”

Mr Al Otaiba cited an extract from an article in Daqib, an ISIS magazine, which told secular readers that they hated them because they “reject the oneness of Allah — whether you realise it or not.” He said it was an example of “extreme voices [that] seek to incite crazed followers to do their bidding”.

He added: “They give rise to zealots like who carry out hateful, violent deeds against religious and ethnic minorities. Christian Coptic churches are attacked in Egypt. The Yazidi homeland is destroyed in Iraq. The Jewish Museum is bombed in Brussels. And fatefully, it is Muslims — Sunni and Shia — that suffer the heaviest price of all from the murderous fundamentalists.

“Ignoring the threat or being complacent is too dangerous and will only feed the cycle of sectarian violence that has gripped the region for more than a generation. Removing the extremists by force is also not the answer as long as the poisoned ideology and the conditions that nurture it endure.”

The solution in breaking the cycle and encouraging people to accept people who are different, Mr Otaiba said, involves promoting an approach “close to the centre of the Muslim world”, which is already found in the UAE.

He told his US audience about more than 40 churches in the UAE, and plans for a new Hindu temple. He described the country's Jewish community as “vibrant and growing”.

Pope Francis is due to arrive into Abu Dhabi on Sunday evening, and will take part in interfaith meetings before delivering a public Mass on Tuesday. Although the audience will be mostly Catholic, Muslim leaders are also expected to attend.

“These ideas and principles of mutual respect and genuine tolerance should be universal,” he said. “Faith and belief are instruments of good for noble goals — not the pretence for death and destruction. The voices of moderation and acceptance must be lifted over those of division and hatred.

“As the birthplace of the three Abrahamic religions, the Middle East today has become a cauldron of conflict among and within them. Religion today is a treacherous fault line that divides the region. But the true faith of Muslims, Christians and Jews has never been about hate or fanaticism. There is no clash of civilisations or ideas — only a rash of ignorance and a deficit of courage and moral leadership.

“Sixty years ago deep in the desert, missionary doctors and Bedouin villagers built a bridge between two faiths with acts of kindness and understanding. We can do it again. This weekend, Pope Francis and the Grand Imam will unite their

Ref: 2019/020

15 January 2019

Excellency,

We write on behalf of the governments of the Republic of Yemen, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates to express our ongoing commitment to the Agreement reached by the Government of Yemen and the Houthis in Stockholm, and to achieving a peaceful solution to the conflict and a more hopeful future for all of Yemen. Members of the Security Council, as well as the Secretary-General and his Special Envoy, have played a central role in achieving and endorsing this significant breakthrough.

The Stockholm Agreement was intended to create space for a political process, and to facilitate the unimpeded flow of humanitarian relief goods through Hodeidah.

With those objectives in mind, our governments are deeply concerned by the unrelenting pattern of deliberate violations of the ceasefire agreement, and the repeated failure of the Houthis to substantially engage in the important work of the Redeployment Coordination Committee (RCC) led by Major General Cammaert.

Permanent Mission of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the United Nations

We are enclosing, for the Council's review, a detailed overview of all violations of the ceasefire agreement that entered into force four weeks ago, on 18 December 2018. This report evidences continual attacks on forces of the Coalition to Support Legitimacy in Yemen, in areas covered by the ceasefire agreement. Since the arrival of the first UN monitors in Hodeidah, the rate of around 20 violations per day has remained constant, but the focus has shifted slightly away from the center of the city, and towards southern parts such as Al Tuhaita, Al Jubaila, and Hays – all within the scope of the ceasefire agreement. In terms of absolute numbers, there have now been a total of 573 recorded violations, leading to the death of 41 Coalition forces and the wounding of another 396. The Coalition hopes that the deployment of an increased number of UN monitors will help to ensure greater compliance by the Houthis.

Furthermore, the Houthis continue to violate the Stockholm Agreement by erecting new barriers and digging new trenches in Hodeidah, while obstructing the work of the RCC through procedural delays and baseless demands for postponing deadlines agreed upon in Stockholm, in particular with regard to the redeployment of forces.

Moreover, we are deeply disappointed and concerned by the Houthis' decision to not only ignore but undermine the humanitarian purposes of the Stockholm Agreement. Our governments welcome the strong and unequivocal statements by both the World Food Programme (WFP) and the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Aid (OCHA), condemning the well-documented theft of humanitarian relief goods by the Houthis, and voicing concern over their blocking of access for humanitarian relief workers and the passage of supplies to people in need of help. In some Houthi-controlled areas, over 65% of the population face severe food shortages, despite the UN recording arrival of food aid for more than the full population.

Permanent Mission of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the United Nations

For the past two weeks, a convoy intended for Sana'a – with enough food to feed 3.7 million people for one month – has been held up in Hodeidah by the Houthis, who refuse to reciprocate cross-line arrangements. The ceasefire was meant to create a space for a significant increase in humanitarian aid deliveries, and yet the Houthis are attempting to hold hostage those in need, and to turn their suffering into a political bargaining chip.

The concerns expressed by WFP and OCHA show that the UN is aware of these practices, and the Security Council should join these agencies in condemning the Houthis' behavior in the strongest terms, and demand that the Houthis cease depriving civilians of food and assistance indispensable to their survival and enable the immediate and unhindered delivery of humanitarian assistance to people throughout Yemen by the United Nations humanitarian agencies and their implementing partners.

Overall, our governments are disappointed but not surprised that the Houthis are wasting the singular opportunity afforded by the Stockholm Agreement. In the four weeks since the Agreement entered into force, rather than working to advance the political process and to alleviate the suffering of the population, the Houthis have instead done everything in their power to further the objectives of illegal territorial gain – in contravention of Security Council resolutions, such as 2216 – that have driven them and their Iranian backers since the start of the conflict four years ago, and have tried to provoke the Coalition into responding to their ongoing attacks. This has included the launching of a pair of medium range ballistic missiles against Coalition headquarters on 21 December 2018. The Coalition has remained disciplined, and has not conducted any airstrikes or artillery strikes in the area covered by the Agreement.

We remain committed to upholding the Stockholm Agreement. However, it takes commitment from both sides to turn the intentions of the Agreement into a reality.

Permanent Mission of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the United Nations

We call upon the Security Council to join other members of the international community in condemning the Houthis' deliberate attempts to undermine the Stockholm Agreement and to derail the political process. It is important to send a clear message to them - and to their Iranian backers - that they will be held responsible for their actions.

In this context, we renew our call upon the Security Council to stem the flow of Iranian arms into Yemen, by more effectively enforcing the arms embargo imposed in Resolution 2216 (2015). The attack conducted by the Houthis in Lahij Governorate on 10 January 2019, most likely using an Iranian-made weaponised drone, which killed six people at a military parade, was deservedly condemned by Special Envoy Martin Griffiths, as it undermines the peace talks.

We would be grateful if you would arrange for this letter and its annexes to be circulated as a document of the Security Council.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of our highest consideration.

Continued Houthi violations of the negotiated ceasefire in Hodeida, intensification of military strikes in Southern Yemen, and the blocking of critical aid threaten to undermine the Stockholm Agreement and derail the potential for a political process.

Yesterday, the UAE delivered a letter to the United Nations Security Council (UNSC), expressing serious concerns about the continuing Houthi violations of the ceasefire in Yemen, which was part of the UN-led Stockholm Agreement. The Coalition letter documents 573 specific violations of the ceasefire that have resulted in at least 41 deaths and 396 injuries to Yemeni forces. As the Coalition has exercised restraint in responding, the Houthis also have launched a series of Iranian-facilitated drone strikes in Southern Yemen.

Furthermore, the Houthis also continue to violate the Stockholm Agreement by erecting new barriers and digging new trenches in Hodeidah. They have failed to withdraw from the ports as they agreed. In the clearest signal of their true intentions, the UN has faulted the Houthis for blocking aid from leaving the port and has harshly denounced the Houthis for diverting and stealing critical aid.

We welcome the UNSC vote to expand ceasefire monitoring, but more urgent action is needed. In the letter delivered to the UNSC, we call on the UN and member states to take strong and immediate steps to condemn the Houthi violations, press them to stop obstructing and stealing humanitarian aid, and to stem the flow of Iranian weapons and know-how into Yemen. We hope that Members of Congress will adopt a similar position.

The Stockholm Agreement must be preserved. The UAE and Coalition has fully met its commitments. Members of the UNSC, the Secretary-General and his Special Envoy, and governments worldwide – including the United States – have played a central role in achieving and endorsing this important breakthrough. However, the carefully crafted Agreement is now at risk of falling apart unless these same voices take urgent action to press the Houthis to fulfill their obligations and to shut down the Iranian arms pipeline into Yemen.

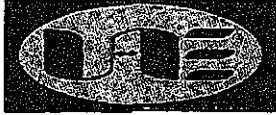

The UAE strongly believes that there can be no military solution to the Yemen conflict, only a political process can create a durable peace. The progress in Stockholm was a critical first step, and allowing the Houthis to frustrate this fragile progress will make any future efforts toward a political agreement much more difficult. Relief and reconciliation for the Yemeni people will be put further out of reach.

Attached is a copy of the letter that was sent to the UNSC, along with supporting documentation of the Houthi Ceasefire violations. Please contact me directly or email Ms. Hagir Elawad at hagir@uaestrategies.com if you have any questions.

Dr. Anwar Gargash calls out Houthis for undermining Yemen peace efforts

The National
January 23, 2019

It is time for the international community to “call a spade a spade” when it comes to Houthi violations of the Yemen peace deal, Dr Anwar Gargash, the UAE's Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, said on Wednesday.

The Houthis have reportedly been violating the Sweden Agreement made in December, which declared a ceasefire in the strategically important port city of Hodeidah. International organisations are attempting to maintain the peace as clashes continue breaking out.

“In Yemen it's time for the international community to call a spade a spade; the Houthi militia is undermining the Sweden agreement & further progress towards peace. Addressing this reality is essential for all to move forward,” Dr Gargash wrote on Twitter.

The UN has been involved in the peace process as have other international aid organisations looking to alleviate the suffering of 14 million Yemenis on the brink of famine.

“It is no longer tenable to accuse the Coalition of prolonging the war & obstructing the road to peace. Time for the international community, NGOs & press to take off the velvet gloves when addressing the Houthis obdurate behaviour,” he said.

Violence between the internationally recognised government and the Iran-backed Houthis has threatened the peace deal and could lead to a resumption of the civil war that has driven the country to widespread famine and disease.
