Foreign Ministers Edgars Rinkevics of Latvia, Gabrielius Landsbergis of Lithuania and Eva-Maria Liimets of Estonia will make a joint visit to Ukraine on February 23-25.

According to Ukrinform, Rinkevics announced this on Twitter.

"In order to express solidarity and support for Ukraine in its struggle for independence and territorial indivisibility, the foreign ministers of the Baltic states will jointly visit Ukraine on February 23-25," Rinkevics wrote.

He also called for the immediate launch of the procedure for EU sanctions against Russia, which should be imposed against the Nord Stream 2 gas pipeline and Russia's financial sector.

The Estonian Foreign Ministry told Ukrinform that a meeting with Ukrainian Foreign Minister Dmytro Kuleba and other officials is expected during the visit.
