He said the jobless rate was at a record-low 9.1 pct compared to 25.9 pct 11 or 12 years ago, and that the employment rate was at a record-high 50.7 pct.

"The deficit is the third indicator of stability. Our plan was for it to be 3.3 pct last year, but it was 2.2 pct," Mali noted.

He added that Serbia's GDP had grown by 2.5 pct last year based on exports and investments.

"In February this year alone, our GDP growth rate was 5.9 pct. All our economic sectors - industry, manufacturing, loans, tourism, agriculture and services - are growing," Mali said.
