It is important that the Western Balkans companies continue to cooperate, work on joint projects and jointly participate in third markets, said Tuesday the President of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Serbia (CCIS), Marko Cadez.

He said the Western Balkans economies have met the most important business standards and are ready to become part of the European common market.

Addressing in Pristina the final conference of the project "EU support for WB6 CIF," organized by the Western Balkans 6 Chamber Investment Forum (WB6 CIF), Cadez called on the European Union (EU) to enable the citizens and economies in the region to enjoy the four fundamental freedoms of EU – free movement of people, goods, services and capital, and stressed that this process can be completed in less than two years.

"This is not a region of problems and misfortune. This region has potential like no other in Europe," said Cadez

He recalled that there was doubtfulness both in the region and in the international community when CIF was being set up, and stressed that businessmen want to create a future based on common interests not differences.

"Our focus in future is to convince the EU and member countries as soon as possible that this region must be part of the common market and that it must enjoy the four freedoms," said Cadez.

He noted that it is very important for the businessmen in the region to be able to do business on the same terms as their colleagues in any other European city so the Western Balkans could be competitive as a region and develop economies before their formal accession into the EU.

CCIS President said the "EU support for WB6 CIF" project that all members of the Western Balkans 6 Chamber Investment Forum participated in will continue on January 1 next year.

"We are now working on a project that will start on January 1 next year. We are continuing all our activities that we are financing, all the chambers," said Cadez.

Commenting on the results of the project, funded by the EU with over 2.8 million euros, Cadez said that over 6,000 companies from six Western Balkans economies underwent some kind of training, education and seminars.

The "EU support to the Western Balkans Six Chamber Investment Forum" began on December 19, 2019 and will end on June 30, 2023.
