2. Term of Engagement. Our engagement on your behalf will continue until terminated by either of us in writing. Should we need to withdraw as your counsel at any point prior to the resolution of a matter, we will provide you with written notice in advance and will work with you to find an acceptable replacement counsel.

3. Fee, Invoicing and Reporting: Pursuant to our discussions, the firm will bill a seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000 USD) flat fee per month for work performed. If required, the firm may retain consultants that are explicitly authorized by the Company in writing. To the extent that consultants are retained, those costs will be clearly detailed on our invoice. Any cost for travel to and from meetings, such as hotels and airfare, will be approved by the Company in writing in advance. We will endeavor to be as efficient as possible in managing cost such as making reasonable decisions with the Company regarding business class flights and hotel accommodations, such as using Marriott class hotels.

The monthly invoice will include the details for the work performed during the month, the person who performed the work, their hourly rates and the number of hours spent (on a daily basis on the matter), as well as copies of receipts for the cost incurred. A monthly report will be provided to the Chief Legal Officer in Doha on the work performed and progress made on the matter. The invoice must be paid within thirty (30) days from receipt.

4. Conflicts. From time to time we may encounter a situation where a particular transaction may involve a conflict with a counterparty where we have previously provided legal services. In this case we will notify you in writing of the situation and we can decide what role the firm should have in handling the matter. We may be precluded from providing legal services to the Company on the specific transaction, or the parties may choose to provide a written waiver of the potential conflict. We do not anticipate that we will encounter this situation, but should it occur, we will inform you in advance to ensure it is properly handled.

5. Confidentiality. All information that is shared by you with the firm involving legal matters is subject to Attorney-Client Privilege. This Privilege protects all of our communications whether in writing or via email or letter. Only you or other management personnel in your Company can waive this Privilege. It is important to remember that your discussions with third parties can be deemed as a waiver of this privilege should you disclose confidential information to them that you otherwise wish to protect.

Work involving government relations matters is not generally covered by Attorney-Client Privilege. As noted above, where required, our firm will file appropriate disclosure forms with the U.S. government as required by law.

6. Documents. All documents, files and communications received by the firm from you/the Company will be maintained by us under Attorney-Client Privilege. At the end of our engagement we will return all confidential documents or otherwise destroy/delete documents pursuant to your instructions.
