CHINA SAYS IT FIRMLY OPPOSES U.S. "SUPPRESSION OF HUAWEI"

I know technology could make life easier for elderly people, but isn't it too hard for them to learn how to use it? 🤖🤖

I sometimes hear people say voice tech helps make things easier for persons with disabilities. How does that work? 🎤🗣️

Debra Ruh: Voice technologies are so important for people with disabilities

Can you share an example of technology helping students with disabilities?

Q: As technology becomes more accessible, does this mean students with disabilities will only rely on technology for assistance?

David Pérez Rueda replied:

What do people in rural communities who need assistive tech and access to the internet do if they don't have good Wi-Fi?

Do you have any advice for people with disabilities who are looking for careers in technology?
What do you think is the first step to developing a more inclusive, accessible design approach to technology?

Never assume disabled people can’t enter a particular career, IT, and ICT, emerging techs - you name it - there are people with disabilities working in every imaginable field.

The world has moved to tech. We must assure all people have access to it. That means we also need connectivity via 5G. 5G has great potential for helping persons with disabilities and other disenfranchised persons like refugees & supports UN efforts to implement SDGs.

I created two companies, Tech Access and then Ruh Global impact.

Q10. We often discuss the digital divide in terms of wealth, but is there a similar divide between people with and without disabilities?
