L.G. Smith's Steak & Chop House, Oranjestad, Aruba.

I partnered with @arubatourism to showcase a unique restaurant on the island: @lgsmithsteak.

L.G. Smith's is a beautiful restaurant with a nice ambiance. Their tableside bar where you can have whatever drink you'd like made (including mocktails) is a sight to see! Prepare to have your mind blown away with the various drink presentations.

Light bites to eat like the calamari, crabcake, and salad are a great choice, and if you're looking for something heavier and more filling, try the lamb chops, grilled steak or lobster.

If you're looking to celebrate something special while on the island, L.G. Smith's is one place you could consider checking out!

deanie_babies • we left the colorado cold to jump in the beautiful blue waters of aruba. i'm not normally a big 'beach vacation' guy but aruba really lived up to the hype. 5 days here wasn't enough, we can't wait to go back!

deanie_babies • aruba has more than just pristine white sand beaches, i think that's why i loved it so much here. i've never been much of a spelunker but couldn't pass up exploring these caves on the north side of the island.

we went on a tour with @islaaruba and @alsnosuna got a few shots of us together in this magnificent cave (something we're not able to do when one of us is always behind a camera). highly recommend checking them out when you visit the island!

deanie_babies we decided to stay at @mancheboaruba when we partnered with @arubatourism because it offered a cute little boutique hotel experience but still had all the amenities we would need, the resort was perfectly seated between all the activities we had planned and the food was unmatched (i'm not normally a foodie but it really was something special).

all in all, just an awesome experience with @arubatourism
