Cvijanović thanks Rutte for NATO's support to BiH – Anadolu

December 18, 2024

Turkey's Anadolu reports:

NATO on Wednesday reaffirmed its unwavering commitment to Bosnia and Herzegovina's sovereignty, security, and stability during a high-level meeting at its headquarters in Brussels.

NATO Secretary-General Mark Rutte welcomed Zeljka Cvijanovic, the Bosnia and Herzegovina Presidency chairwoman, emphasizing the alliance's nearly three-decade-long partnership with the country and the Western Balkans.

The article further reports:

Cvijanovic, for her part, expressed gratitude for NATO's consistent support, particularly in defense and security capacity building.

“We are grateful to NATO for support that has been given to us throughout the years, and we expect, actually, that this support is going to be there whenever it's needed.

“And also, I would like to thank you for, especially for the support that was given to us in terms of capacity building, defense, and related security capacity building, and we would like to actually support to be continued in the future,” she said.
