Hi Michel,

It is great to hear from you. Thank you for sharing this information – it is very helpful for us as we work to increase transparency in soy supply chains. Given Bunge’s connections to these suppliers, how does Bunge plan to engage with these suppliers around the recent cases of deforestation that we identified? While soybean has not yet been planted on the deforested sites, there is a chance of this happening in the future. Also, will these cases be logged as grievances in the public domain? Any supporting documentation that you could provide (reports, maps, etc.) of the deforested sites would be useful as well.

Warmly,
Asha

Hi Nick,

Not a problem. I will review the suggested time with Phil and get back to you shortly.

Thank you,
Asha
