Saudi Arabia's Princess Reema On Why Gender Equality Must Be A Global Priority
Harper's Bazaar Arabia – January 28, 2021

Women around the world are making impressive strides; they've led the fight against Covid-19, are increasingly taking on senior policy positions and running corporate board rooms, as part of an increasing number of thought leaders who are making a difference that will inspire generations to come. To support this momentum we urge leaders, policy makers and tech pioneers to engage more of their efforts into rectifying long-standing gender inequalities. 2021 is the year for fresh thinking, the time to embrace re-invention, as we collectively push for greater equity for women and girls.
