

The following email correspondence was sent to the following Congressional offices: Sen. Bill Cassidy; Sen. Mike Crapo; Sen. Chuck Grassley; Sen. Marco Rubio; Rep. Jim Jordan; Rep. Jim Banks; and Rep. Andy Biggs.

From: Tripp Baird <Tripp@offhillstrategies.com>
Sent: Saturday, March 27, 2021 10:25 AM
To: Tripp Baird <Tripp@offhillstrategies.com>
Subject: Houthis Attack, Yemenis Suffer - United States Department of State

Sorry to bother you on a recess weekend. ICYMI, here is the State Department's statement, joining the international community in condemning the latest Houthi attack.

<https://www.state.gov/houthis-attack-yemenis-suffer/>

The United States again joins the international community in strongly condemning the attacks against Saudi Arabia that struck an oil facility in Jizan. The attack comes days after the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the Republic of Yemen announced a commitment to reach a ceasefire and engage in UN-led peace talks.

The actions by the Houthis are a clear provocation meant to perpetuate the conflict. This is the latest in a series of Houthi attempts to disrupt global energy supplies and threatens civilian populations. The Houthis' actions are prolonging the suffering of the Yemeni people and jeopardizing peace efforts at a critical moment when the international community is increasingly united behind a ceasefire and a resolution of the conflict. We again call on all parties to commit seriously to and strictly uphold a ceasefire, and engage in negotiations under UN auspices, in conjunction with UN Special Envoy Martin Griffiths and U.S. Special Envoy Tim Lenderking.

Tripp Baird

This material is distributed by Tripp Baird / Off Hill Strategies on behalf of the Embassy of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC*