

Delegation of German Industry and Commerce in Washington, DC

And we continue with our new segment, so you can all #MeetTheTeam!

This week we want to introduce you to Amal Khaled! Amal is originally from Alexandria, Egypt (almost like Alexandria, VA, but with better weather and better food). After graduating from the German School there, she went on to study in Germany. Amal holds a master's degree in Intercultural Communications from the Ludwig-Maximilian's University in Munich. After finishing her studies, she worked in Germany for a couple of years before moving to the DC region 7 years ago.

As our Senior Manager for Consulting and Corporate Development, Amal takes care of government projects, oversees the implementation of delegation travel, and handles the bidding on federally funded projects. In addition to that, she is part of the German support office for the Germany-USA Climate and Energy Partnership.

Amal joined our DGIC family last May and has brightened up our days, professionally as well as personally, ever since. When traveling, Amal likes to expand her culinary horizon and has taken cooking classes in such incredible and diverse places as Peru, Nepal and Italy.
