Last week we hosted hashtag#GermanExpat parents and students at our office for an insightful briefing on how to navigate the academic hashtag#pathways to attend a German university and hashtag#StudyInGermany. The event kicked off DGIC's new hashtag#expat service offering.

We want to extend a heartfelt thank you to our expert speakers:

✴ Jeannette Dubrey of the German International School Washington D.C., for explaining the benefits of the dual diploma (High School and Abitur)

✴ Carolyn Ostermann-Healey, teacher at Fairfax County's Robinson High School, for her expertise on the AP/IB programs offered by US public schools, and exchange programs like hashtag#CBYX

✴ Monique Illig of German Language Courses at the German International School Washington D.C., who introduced their Saturday School program and gave valuable insights about the language certificates DSDI and DSDII

✴ Roxana Pleacoff of DAAD German Academic Exchange Service, for her guidance on German universities' admission requirements.
