

Delegation of German Industry and Commerce in Washington, DC

Tax Season 2026 is approaching—and for Germans living in the United States, cross-border tax questions can get complicated.

Which types of income are taxed in which country? Where do thresholds apply? And how do inheritance, gift, and wealth taxes fit into the picture?

We're excited to welcome Carolin Hock, U.S. tax advisor, together with Julian Thalmeir from Germany, for an upcoming session that will break down the fundamentals of tax law in both countries. They'll highlight the most important considerations for expats and answer individual questions following their presentation.
