

Delegation of German Industry and Commerce in Washington, DC

   Thank you to everyone who joined us today for the Transatlantic AI Forum!

We were thrilled to bring together leaders from policy, industry, and research to discuss the state of transatlantic cooperation on AI and the growing demand for secure, trusted compute.

We kicked off the day with opening remarks from our very own Christoph Schemionek, setting the stage for a dynamic and insightful program.

Our Panel Discussion — Building Transatlantic Trust in Compute featured:

- Aalok Mehta, AI and Technology Policy, Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS)
- Meng Jia Yang, Global AI Policy and Regulation, OpenAI
- Paul S. Triolo, Partner, DGA Group
- Rita Balogh, Europe Lead – International Government Affairs, Google
- Moderated by Julian Ramirez, Senior Advisor – Digital Policy, Embassy of Germany in Washington, D.C.

We also welcomed an expert perspective from Olaf J Groth, PhD, Founder & CEO of Cambrian Futures & Labs and a fireside chat featuring Dean Ball, Senior Fellow, Foundation for American Innovation; former Senior Policy Advisor for AI & Emerging Technology, White House OSTP

A special thank you to Thomas Jarzombek, Parliamentary State Secretary to the Federal Minister for Digital Transformation and Government Modernization (Bundesministerium für Digitales und Staatsmodernisierung), for joining us virtually from Germany to share his remarks.

We closed the forum with insights from Jean P. Froehly, Minister, Head of Economic and Finance Department, Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany.

We would like to thank the Bundesministerium für Digitales und Staatsmodernisierung for their support in making this forum possible.

Thank you to everyone who joined us and made for an engaging and insightful dialogue!
