We had a great week hosting the German defense delegation and facilitating conversations across the U.S. defense and dual-use technology ecosystem.

Welcoming 9 German defense companies to Washington, DC, we had the opportunity to meet with leaders spanning maritime, aerospace, advanced manufacturing, AI, chemical, and national security innovation. The first portion of the trip included three days of meetings in Washington, DC, and the delegation now continues to Huntsville for the next round of engagements and conversations.

Thank you to all of the companies and government partners who took the time to engage, share insights, and explore opportunities for collaboration.

The strength of the U.S.-German partnership comes from building together -- and this week was a strong reminder of the innovation and alignment across both ecosystems. Thank you to the Markterschließungsprogramm \(MEP\) and Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Energy for making this exchange possible.
