

Delegation of German Industry and Commerce in Washington, DC

? What are German companies abroad experiencing in today's evolving economic environment?

While the global economy maintains moderate growth, geopolitical developments, trade uncertainty, and ongoing conflicts continue to influence business decisions and international supply chains. To gain a better understanding of these trends, the global AHK network is surveying German companies operating in international markets.

 We encourage German companies abroad to participate and share their experiences, assessments, and expectations. Your feedback will help identify key economic trends, emerging opportunities, and the challenges shaping business activity across global markets.

 Participation takes 5 minutes. The survey is open until this Friday, October 23, 2026:
