Subject: Invite: Showcase on U.S. health giants expanding in Dubai

Hi,

Next month, leading U.S. firms (Pfizer, Medtronic, Johnson & Johnson, General Electric, and more) are showcasing their broadening global footprints at the Middle East's largest healthcare trade event, the World Health Expo. It's taking place in Dubai February 8-12th – would you have any interest in attending?

At a high level, the expo provides brings together the global leaders, technologies, and ideas shaping the future of healthcare, offering a front-row look at innovations transforming patient care, connections with decision-makers, and learning opportunities from leading experts across fields.

Let me know if you have time over the next week to discuss how the event/trip could be most interesting for you – looking to things like exclusive interviews with company representatives, tours of hubs like Dubai Healthcare City, or another idea you may have.

Best,

Mary Kate
