Subject: Establishing a Direct Communication Channel Regarding PDVSA Ad-Hoc

Dear Fabiola,

I am pleased to introduce myself on behalf of Vision Americas International, LLC (VAI) <https://www.visionamericasinternational.com/>, a consulting firm specializing in Strategic Communications, Public Affairs, and Government Relations. With a strong focus on supporting Latin American, Caribbean, and Spanish companies and governments in their engagement with U.S. government institutions and public administration, VAI is a trusted partner in navigating complex regulatory, political, and institutional landscapes. Our expertise spans a broad range of industries, providing tailored solutions that enhance our clients' positioning and influence within key decision-making arenas.

In this capacity, we are honored to serve as the official communications representative for the Ad-Hoc Board of Petróleos de Venezuela, S.A. (PDVSA) <https://pdvsa-adhoc.com/> and its Chairman, Mr. Horacio Medina. We are reaching out to establish a direct line of communication with you and your newsroom to ensure access to verified updates, facilitate interviews, and provide timely responses on all matters concerning PDVSA Ad-Hoc.

PDVSA Ad-Hoc has been tasked, since 2019, with the management and protection of key Venezuelan assets abroad, including CITGO Petroleum Corporation, a U.S.-based company with an important role in the American energy market. Given CITGO's significance—as a major employer and contributor to local U.S. economies and as a central asset in ongoing U.S. federal court proceedings—PDVSA Ad-Hoc remains committed to transparency and engagement with the media on these complex matters. The ongoing litigation processes involving CITGO have far-reaching implications for international creditors, U.S. legal precedents, and the future of Venezuelan assets.

We believe it is essential to maintain a clear and reliable channel of communication with leading media outlets like yours to provide accurate, timely information and address any queries that may arise in your reporting, offering clarity on legal developments and ensuring that the public narrative surrounding PDVSA Ad-Hoc and CITGO reflects both the complexities and the broader geopolitical significance of these issues.

We would be happy to coordinate a call or meeting at your earliest convenience to introduce ourselves and explore how we can best support your coverage of these matters.

Thank you for your attention and consideration. We look forward to staying connected.

Best regards,
