Subject: Podcast Guest: Chairman of Future Investment Initiative (FII)

Hi [REDACTED] – Hope you are doing well! I've been listening to some of the episodes of the [REDACTED] podcast and wanted to offer a potential guest for an upcoming episode.

I work with Richard Attias, the Chairman of the Future Investment Initiative who would be a great guest on the podcast to discuss a host of topics relevant to the global geopolitical and investment landscape at the moment, including how he mobilizes leaders to address the most pressing challenges.

One topic that is of particular interest to Richard is the investment case for industries concentrated in the Global South, including Africa and poorer South American countries, as the region is largely overlooked amidst global conflict. Richard believes that Western countries and the Middle East can harness private capital to support the global south with targetting investment in technology, AI, healthcare and education.

Happy to work with you on the specific topic if the global south angle isn't of interest as well.

Are you planning your upcoming episodes? Would love to connect you with Richard for if you are looking for guests. It would be a really interesting conversation with a global lens.

Looking forward to hearing from you!

Thanks,

Hi [REDACTED] – Thanks for this. 10:30 am tomorrow works or in lieu of connecting with a call, we put together a brief potential outline for your consideration with some proposed questions that Richard would be happy to speak to.

If you would still like to connect to discuss we certainly can but it may be more efficient to go back and forth via email with any suggestions / tweaks you may have to the below.

Looking forward to hearing from you!

Thanks,

Overarching Theme: Investment Across Global Divides

As global conflict continues to escalate around the world, the divisions between communities, countries and people continues to grow. This necessitates a global perspective when making investment decisions to fuel development beyond historically wealthy countries. Richard can provide the investment case for industries concentrated in the global South, including Africa and South American countries, as the region is largely overlooked amidst global conflict.

Questions / Discussion topics:

- You have been convening global leaders for over three decades, almost a full decade with the Future Investment Initiative alone, tell us a bit about your journey to starting FII?
- What have you learned through your career experience about the connection between policy and business? What happens when you can get leaders from both politics and business in the room together?
- The world order is increasingly turbulent right now, what's your take on the state of global conflict right now?
- What can we be doing as investors in the wake of these conflicts? What do you see as crucial areas for increased investment?
- You've spoken about the global north / south divide, tell me a bit more about this?
 - FII put out a global survey that highlights this divide, what about those findings really sheds a light on the widening gap here?
- What's the solution to this divide? How can investors help the global south?
 - How can policy / international organizations support the business efforts in this case?
- What sectors need the most investment?
 - AI is increasingly a focus today with many taking a negative or critical stance, what's your take? How does advanced technology factor into supporting communities in the global south?

Hi [REDACTED],

I'm [REDACTED] and I'll be producing the new series of the podcast. Nice to meet you!

We're really excited to be working with you and are looking forward to our conversation with Richard.

In terms of our next steps, it would be great if you and I could have a briefing call in the coming days to go through Richard's work and his current focus along with the technical details of how we connect.

I'd need about 30 minutes and we could chat via Whatsapp or Facetime.

And as for the interview recording with Richard, these dates below all work for [REDACTED] towards the end of March, early April as you indicated. I'm guessing if Richard is in the US, then the afternoon slots would work best, but let me know. We'd need approximately an hour of his time when he's somewhere quiet with a decent internet connection.

Thursday 27th 10am - 12pm GMT or 1300 - 1500GMT

Friday 28th 12-1800 GMT

Monday 7th April 1500-1700BST

Weds 9th 1500-1700BST

Thursday 10th 1500-1700BST

Friday 11th 1500-1700BST

My mobile number is [REDACTED] and I look forward to hearing back from you.

Thanks and kind regards,

[REDACTED]

Mimecast Attachment Protection has deemed this file to be safe, but always exercise caution when opening files.

[REDACTED] - I hope you had a wonderful Super Bowl weekend, and apologies I couldn't get this to you before then. As you will see from the format - and issues we like to discuss - on the attached introduction to the show, Richard Attias would be a fantastic guest. Copying in [REDACTED] our producer and [REDACTED] who can take things forward from here. Let us know if you have any further questions.

I trust this message finds you well. With the year of elections out of the way, we are pulling together the next season of the Geopolitics of Business, and I would love to continue the conversation on what we can do together. How about a call to discuss? Copying [REDACTED] to help fix a time and looking forward to it.

Hi [REDACTED] – Hope you are doing well! I have been looking into the first season of the [REDACTED] podcast and wanted to reach out to offer a guest if you are gearing up for season 2. Know you are familiar with FII as you spoke at last year's event in Riyadh and you may be familiar already with the Institute's CEO, Richard Attias, who would be a great guest on the podcast to discuss a host of topics relevant to the global geopolitical landscape at the moment.

One topic that is of particular interest to Richard is the investment case for industries concentrated in the Global South, including Africa and poorer South American countries, as the region is largely overlooked amidst global conflict. Richard believes that Western countries and the Middle East can harness private capital to support the global south, specifically in sectors like sustainability given COP and the G20 are both being held in South America.

Happy to work with you on the specific topic if the global south angle isn't of interest as well.

Are you planning your upcoming episodes? Would love to connect you with Richard for season 2 if you are looking for guests. It would be a really interesting conversation with a global lens.

Let me know what you think!

Thanks,
