Subject: Re: Richard Attias on Asia's next chapter of growth and innovation – FII PRIORITY Asia Summit Preview

Hi [REDACTED],

Following the Future Investment Initiative (FII) Institute's inaugural PRIORITY Asia Summit in Tokyo, which brought together more than 1,200 global leaders across more than 40 sessions, one takeaway stood out: sovereign capital is accelerating into Asia with major announcements – like the Public Investment Fund announcing that it plans to more than double its investments in Japan by 2030 – signaling a meaningful new wave in how long-term global capital is being positioned.

Richard Attias, Chairman and Acting CEO of the FII Institute is uniquely positioned to speak to this influx. As a global convener leading conversation at FII summits across the world, Richard can offer insight into the priorities that repeatedly surfaced in dialogues at PRIORITY Asia, including:

- Why Japan is emerging as a key platform for long-term global investment
- Where global leaders see the strongest potential for new investment partnerships, particularly around growth, innovation and long-term stability.
- How the economic themes emphasized in Tokyo are shaping the next phase of collaboration between Asia, the Gulf and other global markets

Let me know if you'd be interested in connecting with Richard to discuss the sentiment and key messages that emerged throughout the Summit.

Best,

Subject: Richard Attias on Asia's next chapter of growth and innovation – FII PRIORITY Asia Summit Preview

Hi [REDACTED],

I wanted to offer you a conversation with Richard Attias, Chairman of the FII Institute Executive Committee and Acting CEO of FII Institute, ahead of the PRIORITY Asia Summit taking place in Tokyo (Nov 30 – Dec 1).

As Asia steps into its role as the gravitational center of the global economy, with Japan bridging East and West as a model of precision, resilience, and innovation, I thought this would be an interesting conversation for your readers.

In an interview, Mr. Attias can discuss:

- How, from his vantage point as a global convener, Asia is not only propelling more than 60% of global economic expansion but also reshaping the world's growth agenda through new trade corridors that link the region with the Global South, the Middle East, and Europe: redefining where influence and opportunity converge.
- How his experience gathering world leaders across continents informs his perspective on Asia's emergence as the gravitational center of global growth, and why this moment represents a turning point.

- How Asia's fusion of economic power, cultural influence and sustainable ambition offers lessons that extend far beyond the region, shaping how global capital and innovation can align to drive shared prosperity.

Do let me know if you have flexibility over the next week or so to discuss further with Mr. Attias.

Best,
