[REDACTED]

Please meet [REDACTED] from [REDACTED]. I can't recall if you were able to connect at the breakfast in NYC this past fall but [REDACTED] is, of course, familiar with FII and in turn, the communications team, with her. She was pleased when the team reached out about moderating at the conference.

[REDACTED], [REDACTED] runs programming for the upcoming FII Miami Forum. I'm also copying two members of FII's communications team and hope you're able to set up a call within the next couple of days to discuss further.

Best,

Hi [REDACTED] – I work with another client who might be of interest for the [REDACTED] episode – let me know what you think.

You might be familiar with the Future Investment Initiative Institute \(FII\), but its Chairman of the Executive Committee and Acting CEO, Richard Attias, might be really interesting for a sit down with [REDACTED]. His whole philosophy is driving impact on humanity, specifically through gathering some of the most high-profile executives across business, policy, technology and philanthropy, which of course aligns well with Jose's mission of empowering change through food.

They both have a specific global lens and background as Richard grew up in Fez, Morocco and went on to graduate as a civil engineer, also gaining a Masters in Maths and Physics from Paris University. His career has taken him to France, Japan, Switzerland, Dubai and New York, having been involved in the development and production of more than 2000 events over the past 30 years, including World Economic Forum Annual Meeting at Davos, Clinton Global Initiative, Nobel Laureates Conferences, The New York Forum, The New York Forum AFRIC, UNESCO NGO Forum, One Planet Summit, Olympism In Action, Future Investment Initiative, Bloomberg New Economy Forum, The African Cup, The African Games, and multiple opening ceremonies.

Might be an interesting conversation about how their two passions (food and investment / convening) are driving real change in global communities. If Richard is available / in NYC on Friday, might this be of interest? I can check his schedule if so.

Thanks again for checking in about [REDACTED] on the music angle too – will stay tuned there and think it could be really interesting!

Best,

[REDACTED]

There is a good amount of interest! Just trying to nail some stuff down/come back to you with some pairing recos.

On that note, CCing my colleague [REDACTED] here, who works with [REDACTED], [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. This is the musical pairing that we had proposed, but know you didn't want two investment firm leaders paired together. A couple more dynamic pairing ideas to consider for [REDACTED] are below – let us know what you think!

Hi [REDACTED] – Hope you are doing well! I heard you were working on a [REDACTED] series and think Richard would be a great guest. With his deep sovereign ties and his perspectives on co-investments, public-private partnership and foreign direct investment, it might make for an interesting episode focused on how allocator capital is flowing around the world.

Let me know if this might be of interest or if you want to discuss further what an episode might cover!

Hi [REDACTED] – Hope your week is off to a nice start. Any word on this from [REDACTED]? Even if Richard is not necessarily a fit for this episode, his perspective on the increase and importance of public-private partnerships in the investment landscape might be an interesting episode more generally. Happy to discuss further with you if helpful.

[REDACTED], it is great to be connected and thank you [REDACTED]. Moving you to BCC to spare your inbox.

I have one more executive for you to consider who might be of interest. He brings a really differentiated, global view on AI investment and use cases that may work to contextualize some other voices in the episode. Richard Attias Chairman of the Executive Committee and Acting CEO of the Future Investment Initiative Institute \(FII\) has spent almost a decade convening leaders across public and private markets as well as policy to discuss the most pressing issues of AI development and investment. He would be a great addition to a Money Maze episode to help share how foreign direct investments are flowing into AI capabilities and how increased investments across the global south are fueling a new demographic of AI access in countries like Africa.

His investment view is more macro, which provides a unique perspective into the global landscape of AI investment, especially as policies evolve to accommodate growing demand.

Let me know how the episode is shaping up and great to be connected regardless!

Best,

[REDACTED]

Hope all is well. As you know, we work with FII, and they're hosting their Priority Summit in Miami from March 25-27, 2026.

They have asked me to reach out to offer you an opportunity to moderate a panel. Is this something that would work with your schedule and be of interest?

If so, we'd be happy to set up a call next week to discuss opportunities within the agenda and coordinate next steps.

Best,

Subject: Potential Guest: Richard Attias. FII Institute

Hi [REDACTED],

I have been listening to some recent episodes of your podcast and have a guest who aligns well with the show's focus on how leaders actually make things happen.

Richard Attias, Chairman of the Executive Committee and Acting CEO of the Future Investment Initiative Institute \(FII\) has led the charge in convening global leaders for over 9 years at FII and can speak to what it means to be a 'leader of leaders' gathering global CEOs, business executives and policymakers to discuss the most pressing advancements around technology, education, healthcare and sustainability.

Unlike many leadership voices who speak more on theory, Richard's experience is rooted in taking action. He has occupied roles in the corporate world and now the third sector, where he leads an institution designed to turn dialogue into execution. His perspective is grounded in the belief that leadership isn't measured by words alone but by creating the conditions where impact is realized — whether that's public-private partnerships that deploy capital and innovation at scale, or convenings that lead directly to new initiatives.

He has an interesting background, having been involved in the development and production of more than 2000 events over the past 30 years, including World Economic Forum Annual Meeting at Davos, Clinton Global Initiative, Nobel Laureates Conferences, The New York Forum, The New York Forum AFRIC, UNESCO NGO Forum, One Planet Summit, Olympism In Action, Future Investment Initiative, Bloomberg New Economy Forum, The African Cup, The African Games, and multiple opening ceremonies.

Away from his work, Richard has a fascinating personal story. He was born into a Jewish family in Fez, Morocco and went on to graduate as a civil engineer, also gaining a Masters in Maths and Physics from Paris University. His career, which has taken him to France, Japan, Switzerland, Dubai and New York, initially began at IBM, where he quickly rose up the ranks before going on to found several organizations, something he feels was only possible due to his willingness to take risks.

Would Richard be of interest as a potential guest on your podcast? Think he brings a really unique perspective and background.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Thanks,

[REDACTED]
