Subject line: Follow-Up on Congressional Letter Regarding SLB and Russian Sanctions

Hello [name],

On behalf of Razom We Stand, a Ukraine-based and internationally active peace, clean energy, and climate organization, I want to thank U.S. Representative [Name] for his/her and his/her team's leadership in co-signing the bipartisan letter to Secretaries Yellen and Blinken urging decisive action against SLB's continued operations in Russia. Your commitment to holding Russia accountable and supporting Ukraine during this critical time is deeply appreciated.

We recently sent a follow-up letter to Secretaries Yellen and Blinken, advocating for the immediate revocation of SLB's exemptions in Russia and a complete halt to its operations. SLB's continued activity in Russia undermines the spirit of U.S. sanctions and enables the Kremlin to sustain its war effort against Ukraine. We believe this is an opportune time to consider additional measures on SLB's operations, especially in light of recent media reports indicating that the Biden administration is contemplating new sanctions on Russia's oil sector.

To amplify the impact of your efforts, we would like to request an opportunity to brief your staff on the latest developments regarding SLB, Russian energy sector loopholes, and sanctions enforcement. By working together, we can ensure that the Biden administration can still implement the necessary steps to strengthen sanctions and align policy with our shared values of justice and accountability.

Furthermore, we seek your help in moving the letter to Secretaries Yellen and Blinken forward and advancing the proposed actions outlined therein. Closing these loopholes will send a powerful message that U.S. companies cannot prioritize profit over principle in the face of war crimes and aggression.

We would be honored to meet with your team at your earliest convenience. Thank you for your unwavering support for Ukraine and for your commitment to protecting global peace and justice.

I am distributing this information on behalf of Razom We Stand, and additional information is on file with the Department of Justice, Washington, District of Columbia.

Sincerely,

Ilya Zaslavskiy

Senior Campaigner, Razom We Stand
