Republicans Overseas Israel Meets with Laura Loomer

Had excellent discussions with Laura Loomer @LauraLoomer, investigative journalist and conservative activist, at the King David Hotel in Jerusalem during her visit to Israel.

We covered critical issues facing both America and the Middle East:

1. Syria and Minorities - The situation of Druze, Christians, Kurds and other minorities in the region and their strategic importance
2. Radical Islam's Threat - Including the danger posed by figures like NYC Mayor-elect Mamadani who embrace extremist ideologies while seeking power in American cities
3. Republika Srpska & Bosnia-Herzegovina - The pending Muslim/EU-connived snap election and the future of the Balkans
4. The "Woke" Right Problem - The threat posed by figures like Tucker Carlson and elements of what's becoming a problematic faction within conservative circles
5. 2026 US Midterm Elections - Strategic planning for the crucial congressional races ahead

... Laura's fearless journalism and willingness to speak uncomfortable

President Milorad Dodik just shared this post which reveals yet another anti-Semitic move by the Moslem Bosniac regime:

"The decision of the National Museum of Bosnia and Herzegovina to direct proceeds from the Sarajevo Haggadah as "support for Palestine" constitutes a political misuse of Jewish cultural heritage, carrying a clear symbolic message—one directed against the State of Israel.

"Republika Srpska firmly distances itself from this act, which follows shortly after the ban on the Conference of European Rabbis in Sarajevo. This is not an isolated gesture, but part of a continuing pattern of hostility toward Jews.

"The Sarajevo Haggadah is not a tool for political confrontation—it is a testament to the history and culture of a people who have endured persecution.

"To use the Haggadah as a symbolic statement against Israel is a profound affront to those who understand its significance to the Jewish people."

I submitted an op-ed to @ForeignPolicy responding to their Nov 14 article "The Forever Protectorate," (foreignpolicy.com/2025/11/14/bos...) which criticized Christian Schmidt's role in Bosnia but ignored the deeper issue: Sarajevo's systematic centralization enabled by the OHR, increasingly characterized by Islamist political influence. Foreign Policy declined to publish a counter-perspective.

Apparently, they're not interested in presenting views that challenge their original narrative—even when those views come from someone directly involved in Balkan affairs as registered agent for Republika Srpska.

So I'm publishing it here. The truth about what's happening in Bosnia deserves to be heard.

Sarajevo, and the Islamist Shadow Over Dayton
By Marc Zell, Esq.

Thirty years after the Dayton Accords ended the bloodiest war in Europe since 1945, the people of Republika Srpska (RS) face a new aggressor: not tanks or artillery, but a single unelected German named Christian Schmidt who claims the right to rewrite RS laws, suspend RS constitutions, dismiss RS elected leaders, and criminalize RS dissent. The Foreign Policy article "The Forever Protectorate" correctly identifies Schmidt as the living symbol of Bosnia's arrested development. From Banja Luka, the assessment is that the article does not go nearly far

Being Jewish in Europe this summer means not telling colleagues you're spending your holidays in Israel.

It means hiding your kippa under a hat.

While most of Western Europe descends into civilizational chaos, there are still islands of sanity on the continent. I just returned from a professional trip to Republika Srpska in Bosnia-Herzegovina and to Hungary where life goes on and thrives without any trace of Islamist

Democracy grants in the Balkans? Democracy is dead and dying in Bosnia as the pro-Hamas Moslem government is trying to strangle the Christian Republika Srpska. Bosnia does NOT need Democratic grants. It needs a policy shift in Washington.

Major changes for the better are underway in Bosnia Herzegovina

President Milorad Dodik: Republika Srpska, despite constant attacks on its constitutional order, is completely stable both economically and politically. Behind these attacks were some decadent forces gathered around people from Sarajevo and part of the international community. Now the situation is completely changing in our favor, and we have adjusted our political approach to further strengthen the position of Republika Srpska in the future. During the week, a meeting of the SNSD and HDZ was held in Banja Luka, where the continued cooperation of these two parties in defending the constitutional rights of the constituent peoples in Bosnia and Herzegovina was confirmed.

The argument that RS “obstructs” the state is a Sarajevo talking point that collapses under scrutiny. Dayton created two entities and three constituent peoples to prevent any single group from dominating the others. Article III reserves all powers not expressly granted to the state to the entities. State property apportionment was left unresolved in 1995—yet Schmidt now imposes a Sarajevo-centric solution by fiat. When the RS National Assembly defends its constitutional turf, RS is branded “secessionist.” When Sarajevo centralizers violate the same document—staffing state courts, police, and intelligence with Bosniak majorities—they are hailed as “pro-Bosnia.” This double standard is the real threat to peace—and to Europe’s Christian heritage in the Balkans.

Behind the legal façade lies a deeper clash. Sarajevo’s ruling elite, rooted in the SDA and its offshoots, has spent three decades entrenching Islamic influence in state institutions: Sharia-compliant banking, Saudi-funded mosques, Turkish textbooks in public schools, and a judiciary that shields radical clerics while prosecuting Serb veterans. The OHR, far from neutral, has become the guarantor of this project. Every Schmidt decree weakens entity firewalls that protect secular governance in RS and Croat-majority cantons. The high representative’s insistence on centralizing power in Sarajevo is not state-building—it is the soft Islamization of Bosnia under the banner of “EU integration.” Western diplomats who cheer this process ignore the parallel with Kosovo, where international tutelage birthed Europe’s first jihadist emirate.

An important statement from Srpska’s member of the Bosnia Presidency: Srpska has agreed to appoint an interim President, my good friend Ana Trisić, pending next year’s general election in order to eliminate the totalitarian reign of the High Representative Schmidt and curtail the anti-democratic Bonn Powers in order to counteract the Moslem controlled government in Sarajevo and restore balance in the Bosnian state.

The civilizational conflict between the West and Islam is now being played out daily in Bosnia Herzegovina. Republika Srpska, like Israel, is on the front lines.

Thank you, President Dodik, for your unwavering support for peace and freedom and for President Trump @realDonaldTrump.
