Japan-US Military Program (JUMP)

Summary

American service members and their families who have lived in Japan constitute one of the largest groups of potential supporters of the Japan-U.S. relationship. The National Association of Japan-America Societies (NAJAS) and the Sasakawa Peace Foundation USA (SPFUSA) propose to cooperate to provide a set of programs and services to Americans who have served or serving in the U.S. military in Japan, and their families. The Embassy of Japan will provide financial support for the programs and services as described below. The objective is to inform and connect a large group of Americans who have first-hand experience of living in Japan and favorable attitudes towards the country and the Japan-U.S. relationship in order to make them more knowledgeable, and active, supporters of the relationship.

Programs

NAJAS will offer three major events per year hosted by Japan-America Societies (JAS) and in cooperation with local Consulates General. The target audience will include veterans and their families living in the local area, U.S. government civilians who have served in Japan and their families.

- These events will feature senior retired and active duty military personnel presenting current information on the Japan-U.S. security relationship and updating veterans on the facilities where they served. The events will strengthen the ties Japan-U.S. military alumni have with each other, as well as help alumni better connect with their Japanese counterparts.
- Geographical areas with a large population of active-duty military members and veterans with Japan experience will take priority. Such areas include, but are not limited to, Honolulu, Seattle/Tacoma, San Antonio, Washington, DC and San Diego.
- NAJAS will offer these events to their member councils on a competitive basis during 2015; proposals will be accepted on the basis of quality and impact in the local area.

NAJAS will also offer two major events in Washington, DC in cooperation with SPFUSA and in coordination with the Embassy of Japan.

Services

SPFUSA will offer targeted outreach to veterans and their families who have served in Japan. The target audience will also be extended to U.S. government civilians who have served in Japan and their families. This will be done using the internet and social media, including:

- Creation of pages on appropriate social media outlets to convey information relevant to the Japan-U.S. Alliance and U.S. Forces Japan (past and present), information about the Embassy of Japan, Consulates

General of Japan, SPFUSA and NAJAS events of special interest to veterans.

- Support networking among current and former U.S. service-members and their families who have served in Japan through the creation of social media accounts geared towards them (including Facebook and Twitter).
- Advertise these activities via media outlets aimed mainly at a military audience, such as military newspapers and websites.

Sustainable Effort

Together, these programs and services will amount to a well-organized and sustainable outreach effort to the community of veterans who have served in Japan and their families. Utilizing existing resources at NAJAS and SPFUSA, JUMP will provide focus and efficiency in the effort and will serve to incorporate these outreach efforts into ongoing programming by these institutions. Ownership of JUMP by the well-established organizations Sasakawa USA and the National Association of Japan-American Societies will provide the sustainability and impact that the USMJAA was unable to achieve.

Contracting and Budget

SPFUSA and NAJAS have agreed that SPFUSA will enter into a contract with the Embassy of Japan for the program and budget proposed by the Embassy ($236,000 in JFY 2015). SPFUSA will then enter into a separate contract with NAJAS to deliver the programs described above. As the responsible party, SPFUSA will approve NAJAS programs and services described above.
