Hello,

In case you missed it, the United Nations is calling for an independent investigation into the death of Mohammad al-Shami, a UN human rights staff member who died in Houthi custody in Yemen. According to the UN, his family was only recently informed, more than a month after his death. UN officials have also renewed calls for the release of other detained personnel, highlighting continued concerns about the safety of UN and humanitarian staff in Yemen.

Here is the United Nations' statement on al-Shami's death, along with reporting on the matter.

Best,
